Local soldiers deployed to Africa

Troops known as Operation Long Rifle, expected to return home next summer

Seven Campbellsville residents are in Africa, serving with a unit of nearly 600 Kentucky National Guard troops.

Sgt. 1st Class Robbie Rogers, who serves at Campbellsville's National Guard unit, said 26 of the unit's 70 soldiers were mobilized on Sept. 2 to report to the Bardstown National Guard unit before heading to Camp Atterbury in Indianapolis for training exercises.

According to a National Guard news release, the 2/138th Field Artillery unit went to Camp Atterbury before heading to Africa. The release doesn't state that Campbellsville National Guard troops traveled with the 2/138th unit, though military officials say they are. Rogers said the 2/138th unit was short on soldiers, so the 26, of which seven are from Campbellsville, agreed to ship out with the unit.

National 4-H week celebrated

'I grew up as a 4-Her. It made a huge impact on my life and a huge difference.'

He carefully connects the battery and smiles as his robot takes off flying.

A scientist for the day, the student grabs his robot and gets back to work. He says he isn't quite pleased with his work.

From cooking and sewing to technology and babysitting, Taylor County 4-H programs offer something to try and peak the interest of all the county's children and young adults.

This month, 4-H staff members are teaching students at Campbellsville and Taylor County schools how to build robots. And Amanda Sublett, Taylor County extension agent for 4-H/youth development, says students are loving it.

This week is National 4-H Week. Sublett and her assistant, Jordan Stapp, are conducting programs at local school systems all month to celebrate.

The program being taught now teaches students how robots can be used to preserve and protect the environment, while offering a glimpse into the future of science, technology, engineering and math.

Students were given the task of building a robot to clean an oil spill on a beach. After building their robot, they engineered a course for the robot to maneuver with plastic cups, pipe cleaners and other items.

Sublett says 4-H programs are geared toward helping children learn leadership, citizenship and life skills.

She said she conducts 4-H meetings with the county's fourth- and fifth-grade students once a month. Students elect officers and run the meetings and Sublett has a program each month focusing on a specific skill or lesson, such as public speaking and nutrition.

Sublett said special interest 4-H groups also meet after school and discuss topics such as cooking, babysitting, livestock and more.

"There's something for everybody," she said. "It's not just for farm kids. It's more than livestock."

Farm help hard to find this year

'That's why the migrants are here, because we can't get enough labor to get the crop in.'

lmoore@cknj.com

For the last two decades, the number of tobacco farms in Taylor County has steadily decreased. But for the 150 or so tobacco farmers remaining, finding workers to cut and house this season's predicted 2,500 pounds of tobacco has been a labor in itself.

According to Pat Hardesty, Taylor County extension agent for agriculture and natural resources, this year's tobacco is one of the better yielding crops Taylor County has had in a while.

Hardesty said the usual abundance of migrant workers has dwindled due to there not being enough farms remaining to keep migrant workers employed for very long.

"Some of our smaller producers have been waiting on crews or they've been trying to get local help, which is very difficult," Hardesty said. "That's why the migrants are here, because we can't get enough local labor to get the crop in."

In years past, Hardesty said, groups of migrant workers would come into the county and by word-of-mouth, would move from farm to farm, quickly cutting and housing the tobacco by the end of September, and well before the first frost.

Now in October, the threat of frost constantly looms. Hardesty said that frost was in the weather forecast for this morning.

"Chances are, we're going to have quite a bit of tobacco get frosted on because of not being able to get it cut and housed," Hardesty said. "That can reduce quality of the crop, and they recommend waiting about three days after a frost before going in and harvesting."

Local farmer Aaron Newcome said he and his business partner, Kyle Lee, are worried that some of their 115 acres of tobacco may not get cut and housed in the barn in time.

"I think everybody's having the same problem," Newcome said. "This is the first time that I'm hiring all local help."

Newcome said finding steady local help this year has been difficult. On any

Voter registration deadline is tomorrow

Field set for Nov. 6 General Election

CALEN MCKINNEY
reporter@cknj.com

Those who want to vote in the upcoming General Election have only two days left to register.

Tomorrow is the deadline to register to vote in the Nov. 6 election, and Taylor County Clerk Mark Carney says there are several ways to do so.

Forms can be mailed to Carney's office at 203 N. Court St. Forms postmarked tomorrow's date will be accepted, even if they don't arrive at the office by tomorrow.

Most people complete voter registration cards at his office, Carney said. The office, located in the Taylor County Courthouse, is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and on Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon. Residents can print a voter registration form online at www.sos.ky.gov and bring the completed form to Carney's office.

Voter registration forms ask for a person's name, Social Security number, birth date, address, political party and signature.

Carney said anyone who wants to make a change in their political party or address should do so by tomorrow at 4:30 p.m.

Residents must be age 18 or older to vote, Carney said, but 17-year-olds who will turn 18 on or before Nov. 6 can register now. Absentee voting applications are available now, Carney said, and his office has already mailed about 200.

Those eligible to vote by absentee are those who will be out of town on Nov.

CU hears message on God's love

'Fella' Wilson talks to CU students

TANNER ROYALTY
Campbellsville University

Students at Campbellsville University had the opportunity to hear from the Rev. Larry A. "Fella" Wilson, senior minister at Campbellsville's Woodlawn Christian Church during a convocation service Wednesday, Sept. 19. Wilson spoke about the meaning of God's unconditional love and used comparisons from his own relationship with his father and his relationship with his sons.

Wilson used the scripture 1 John 3:1, "See what kind of love the father has given to us, that we should be called children of God, and so we are. The reason why the world does not know us is that it did not know him."

Wilson spoke of the love that is common among parents for their children and said, "It is like no love I've felt before."

He compared that love to the love of God by saying, "He loves you, because that's what a parent does, you are his child, and he is your father."

Wilson said you don't have to obey God to earn his love, "You can run away from God, but his love will follow you."

He ended by saying, "God still loves you no matter who you are, or what you've done."

Lexington Catholic played without all-state quarterback Kyle Bolin (out with a torn ACL), but the Knights had three touchdowns in the first 10 minutes to roll past the home-standing Taylor County Cardinals 56-14 on Friday night.

Sophomore signal-caller Reese Ryan used a pair of passes to junior David Bouvier and senior Casey Nash to set up junior Marcelis Logan's 18-yard score.

Ryan then connected with Bouvier for a 13-yard tally before finding Amoh Kumengisa for a 17-yard TD with 1:51 still left in the opening quarter.

The Cardinals (4-3) used the first of two Josh Benningfield picks to keep the Knights (7-1) off the second-quarter scoreboard until a 66-yard run by junior Malik Guidry preceded Guidry's two-yard score.

Hunter Christie was picked off for the first time this season and senior Sawyer Shelton returned it for a 27-yard score.

Logan tallied in the third frame to put LexCath up 42-0 before Cardinal senior Daulton Turpin burst loose for a 75-yard score for Taylor County at the 7:20 mark.

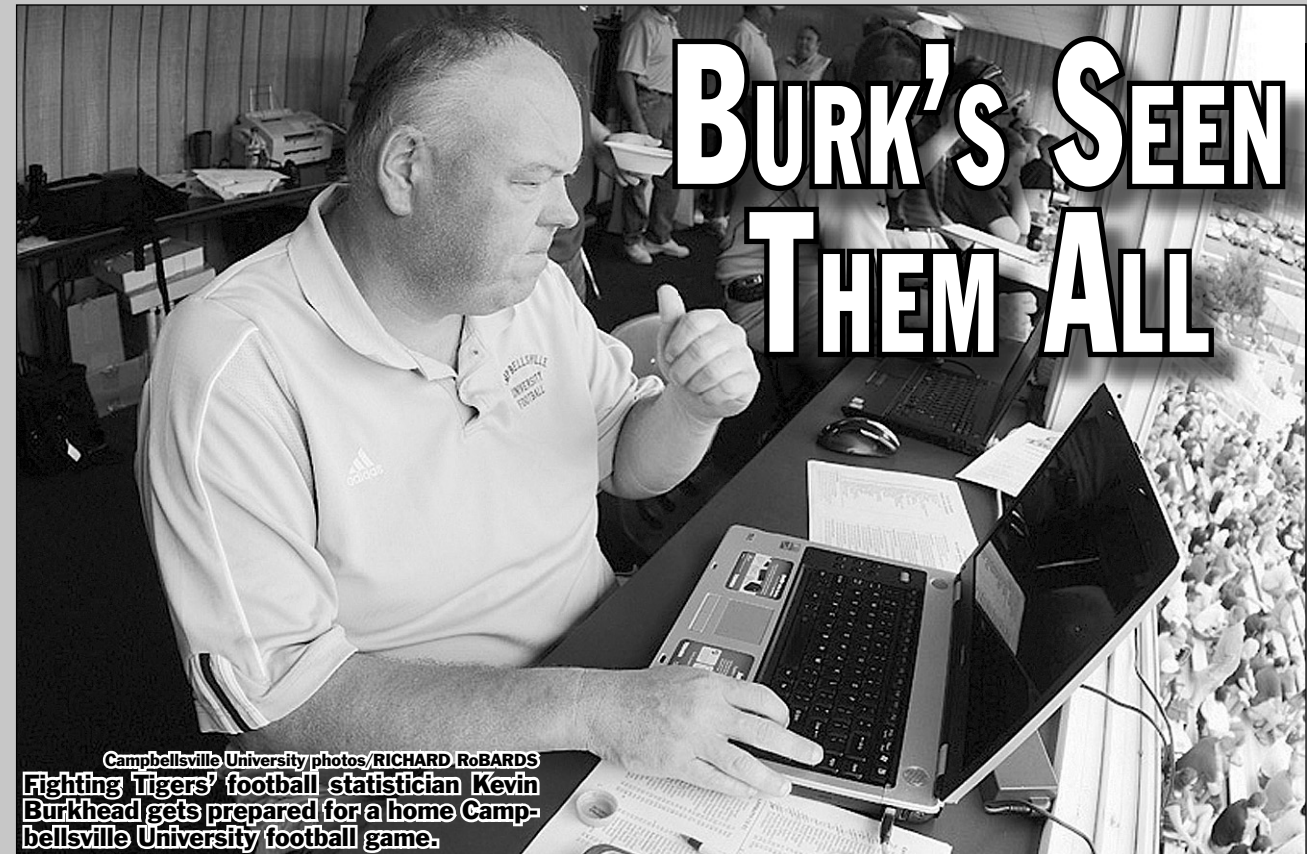

Bouvier caught another TD pass from Ryan before Turpin again scored on a 67-yard jaunt.

Freshman Jaylen Jones completed the scoring when he went 63 yards to pay dirt.

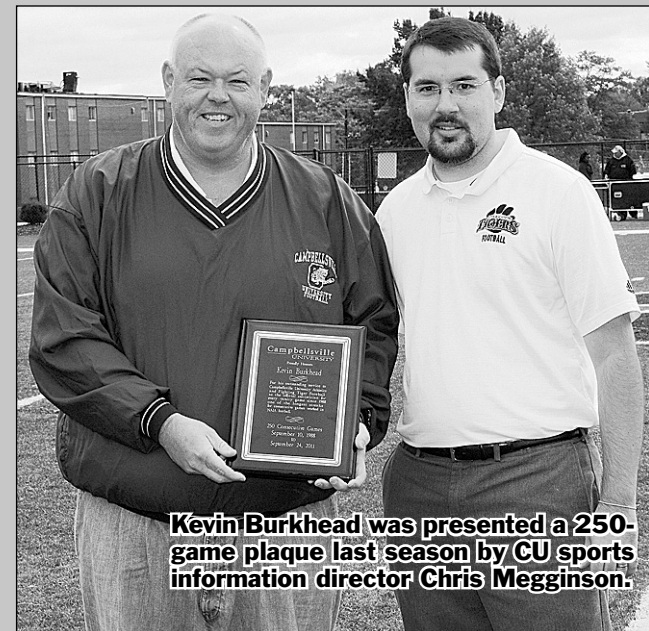

Turpin finished with 230 yards and 22 attempts for Taylor County, which had 306 yards on the ground.

The Knights had 265 rushing and 172 passing yards for 437 total offensive yards.

The Cardinals visit Mercer County, (4-3) a 55-0 victor at Marion County, and Barren County over the next two Friday nights before concluding the home portion of their schedule vs. Hart County on Oct. 26.

Fighting Tigers' football statistician Kevin Burkhead gets prepared for a home Campbellsville University football game.

CU stat man has worked all Fighting Tiger gridiron games

Bobby Brockman
sports@cknj.com

Neither rain, snow, sleet, sickness or travel distance have caused statistician Kevin Burkhead to miss a Campbellsville University football game.

His two spotters are nicknamed "The Governor" (James Rice) and "Doc" (Glen Atkinson), but Burkhead is the only person to see every Campbellsville University football game since junior varsity competition began in 1987. (Burk's streak will reach 265 games Saturday when CU hosts Lindsey Wilson College for homecoming.)

Burkhead, a 1985 Campbellsville High School graduate who now teaches and coaches girls' golf in the Nelson County school system, started keeping statistics by simply saying yes to Fighting Tigers' Hall of Fame coach Ron Finley.

"What I'll always remember about coach Finley was his love of CU and his loyalty," Burkhead said recently. "Plain and simple, he was just a great man."

Williamsburg clobbers CHS 48-0 as district play begins

Eagles return home for back-to-back district encounters vs. Lynn Camp and Berea

STAFF REPORT

Williamsburg scored a pair of touchdowns to break open an 8-0 game on the Yellow Jackets' way to a 48-0 thrashing of visiting Campbellsville High School on Friday night.

"It was 8-0 with about eight minutes left in the half," Eagles' head coach Dale Estes admitted. "But, we got a couple of bad breaks and then the wheels came off."

"We had a fumble and an interception and in a span of seconds it was 21-0."

The Yellow Jackets (6-1) used junior quarterback Dalton Sizemore's arm and legs to post the triumph in the first district game for each school.

Williamsburg used two Sizemore hook-ups to get up its first score on Sizemore's 10-yard pass to Corey Shelton.

Another Sizemore completion, this one to Skyler Griffith for 34 yards, set up Chase Lowrie's five-yard TD run.

Sizemore threw for two touchdowns and ran in two more while also tossing a conversion pass.

He finished with 200 yards passing and 43 yards on the ground.

The Eagles were their own worst enemy with six turnovers — four interceptions and two lost fumbles while Hayden Webb's interception was the lone Williamsburg miscue.

The Yellow Jackets added four third-period scores on a Sizemore pass to Shelton, scoring runs by Sizemore and Jefferson Patrick and an interception return for six points by Micah Purdie.

Campbellsville did have one trip into the red zone (inside the 20-yard line), but committed another one of their turnovers.

Freshman Kendon Young and sophomore Derrick Caldwell paced the Eagles in tackles with six apiece while sophomore Eric Lamer added five hits.

Young also had two receptions from Zach Durham while Dra Thornton had one for 18 yards and Cameron Hughes one for eight.

Josh Roe was the top Eagle rusher with 26 yards on five carries while Charles Johnson ran once for 20 yards and Webb four times for 15.

Campbellsville (1-6) hosts Lynn Camp this Friday (Oct. 12) and Berea next Friday (Oct. 19). Lynn Camp bested Berea 28-26 at home in their first district games.

The Eagles still have a chance for a home play-off game with a pair of victories. One or two losses in the next two weeks would probably mean a first-round game at Hazard or Harlan.

A week before the play-offs start on Nov. 2, the Eagles will play at Fort Knox on Oct. 26 in a non-district tilt.

BURK'S SEEN THEM ALL

CU stat man has worked all Tiger football games

Burkhead also reeled off, noting he did not want to leave anyone or any game out, some of "his" greats with CU football.

Greatest players: Timmy Mays, Joe Pangallo, Chris Gust, William Mulder, Jolly Genton, Tim Rogers, Rodney Turpin, Stan Warrenhuffman, Marques Cunningham (may have been the best), J.C. Savusak, Joe Don Looney, Herb Wiseman, Ron Sams, Donnie Johnson (greatest athlete, maybe could throw a baseball 90 mph), Demetrius Forney, Steve Lovelace, Greg Bridges, Mark Carroll, Greg Fountain, Calvin Bini, Ricky Gehres.

Best games: Belhaven (letting them score late to have a chance to win), first Georgetown win, Georgetown win when Timmy (Mays) ran over them in 1997 — conference championship, play-off win vs. St. Francis, Cumberlands game when Jeremy McGuire threw Hail Mary pass- es to beat them, Cumberland (Tenn.) U. game when (Marques) Cunningham could not be stopped and very first school win vs. Evansville in 1989 (the place went nuts).

"I also remember when we played Cumberland U. when they re-started football after Georgia Tech beat them 222-0 (in 1916)," Burkhead offered. "The game was down there with tons of people and The Today Show.

"The Union game without coach Finley was very eerie," Burkhead continued. "The Shorter win for (coach) Perry (Thomas) on a Thursday night down there was neat." (Burkhead and the Tigers have played games in at least 15 states.)

Best opponents: Georgetown (1991 and 2003) and the Lambuth teams in the 90s.

Top opposing players: Cory Hill, Jo Jo Jones, Eddie Eviston, Dane Damron, Cody Brown, Rod Dixon — awesome talents, all of them.

Murder: Man arrested in connection

detectives arrested Salyers after a week-long investigation into the death of Wendell "Gleason" Pyles, who was shot and killed Sept. 26 while he was working at Tarter Gate Co. in Dunnville.

The release states that early last Thursday morning, KSP troopers, detectives and special response team members searched Salyers' home.

Items seized are expected to lead to more charges and additional arrests, the release states. The investigation into the murder is continuing.

According to Salyers' arrest citation, an investigation into Pyles' murder revealed that the two had an ongoing argument over a debt Pyles allegedly owed to Salyers.

Court records state that during an interview with Salyers, he told KSP troopers that he wouldn't reveal what happened because "he was not a rat."

Later in the interview, records state, Salyers told troopers that what happened was not about Pyles quitting a motorcycle club the two belonged to, but was over the debt Pyles owed. Records state Pyles and Salyers were members of the Iron Horsemen Motorcycle Club.

Salyers told troopers that he drove the man who shot Pyles to Tarter Gate Co. in his truck, which was burned the night of the crime.

KSP Sgt. Andy Olson said detectives are still investigating the case to determine who shot Pyles.

"We haven't found or charged him yet," Olson said.

Olson said it isn't known yet how many people were involved with killing Pyles.

Salyers' arrest citation states that he was charged with murder, which is a Class A felony punishable by as much as life in prison.

The KSP news release states, however, that Salyers was charged with complicity to commit murder, also a Class A felony. Jail records list him charged with murder.

Records state Salyers was denied release on his own recognizance or an unsecured bond because he is a danger to others.

An unsecured bond sets an amount a defendant will pay if he or she doesn't appear for court dates but doesn't require any money be posted before a defendant can be released.

According to the Casey County Circuit Clerk's Office, no court dates have been set for Salyers, though he will likely appear in court during the county's regular district court hearing day tomorrow.

A not guilty plea will likely be entered on Saly-ers' behalf during his first court appearance. He will be appointed an attorney or be ordered to hire his own and the case against him will either be set for a preliminary hearing or held to a Casey County grand jury for possible indictment.

Pyles, 50, worked in maintenance at Tarter Gate Co.

His wife, Tina, said that getting through the days since her husband's death has been difficult.

"It's hard, it's so hard, there's so much that's bombarded me all at once."

Mrs. Pyles said her husband was a man his friends and family members could depend on and trust.

"If he liked you, he liked you. He was a good-hearted person who would give you the shirt off his back and do anything in the world for you."

Mrs. Pyles said her husband deeply loved and cared for his five children and three grandchildren.

"His pride and joy was his family," she said.

"He was a great provider and fun to be around. And he also loved his two Harley Davidson motorcycles."

Anyone with information about this or any other crime is asked to call the KSP at (800) 222-5555.

given day, he has no idea how many workers will show up or how long they will stay.

One option available to farmers is the H-2A Visa program, which allows people to legally enter the United States temporarily for agricultural work. However, Hardesty said that the farmer has to pay for the transportation to get them here, in addition to providing housing and guaranteeing them so many hours. In the end, he said, it is the equivalent of paying someone 15 dollars an hour. And because it is so expensive, most independent producers cannot afford it.

Hardesty was quick to dispel a common concern that migrant workers take jobs away from Americans. "With some industries, there may be some migrant laborers that are taking jobs away from Americans, but with tobacco, that's not been the case," Hardesty said.

"I promise you, if a tobacco producer here in Taylor County could get local, dependable help, there wouldn't be migrants here."

Although it would mean a smaller profit margin next year, Newcome said that he will probably have no choice but to arrange for H-2A workers.

"The days of the smaller farmer are kind of out," Newcome said. "You either raise a lot or none at all."

4-H: National 4-H Week celebrated

Not all children enjoy sports, Sublett said, so 4-H tries to offer many activities to children can find what they like and participate.

4-H activities are open to anyone ages 9 to 18. For those ages 5 to 8, Sublett said, a Cloverbud program introduces them to what 4-H is all about.

Sublett says about 450 fourth- and fifth-graders learn about 4-H each year and more than 1,800 attend 4-H programs altogether.

As children get older, Sublett said, it can be difficult to keep the students attending 4-H events because they sometimes compete with sports, clubs and church events.

The biggest 4-H event, she said, is 4-H 4 All, which is typically hosted at the beginning of the school year. The event showcases all activities 4-H offers, she said, so students can plan to be involved in them.

Sublett said 4-H members receive newsletters about upcoming activities. Staff members also used Facebook to keep members updated. She said she believes 4-H offers hands-on activities that teachers might not have time to offer in the classroom. She says this helps 4-H members learn but also have fun at the same time.

"If you come to sew, you're gonna get to sew. If you come to cooking, you're gonna get to cook," she said. "I think that we fill a need."

Sublett said research shows that children retain information better if they learn using hands-on techniques, which is what 4-H is all about.

"We develop leadership skills and life skills," she said. And Sublett says 4-H events aren't just for children, they can also bring a family together. She said many 4-H members have entered state and national competitions and their families have attended to cheer them on.

In her ninth year working in 4-H and youth development, Sublett says she enjoys what she does.

"I really, really do," she said. "It's a calling really."

Sublett says a lot of work goes into making 4-H events fun and educational. "I grew up as a 4-Her," she said. "It made a huge impact on my life and a huge difference. I owe a lot to 4-H."

And Sublett says 4-H is always in need of volunteers, from those with a special skill to teach members or just those who want to help. "We rely heavily on volunteers," Sublett said. "It helps the program tremendously."

To volunteer to help with 4-H events, call the Taylor County Extension Office at 465-4511 or email Sublett at amanda.sublett@uky.edu.

Soldiers: Deployed to Africa

Rogers said. According to the news release, the 565 soldiers are at the Horn of Africa for a nine-month deployment. Their mission is to promote regional security and stability and to protect United States interests in the region.

The release states that the Lexington-based 2/138th stands as the most decorated unit in the Kentucky National Guard, completing tours in Iraq and Afghanistan during the War on Terror. The troops, who will be known as Task Force Long Rifle, are expected home next summer.

According to the Kentucky National Guard's blog, kentuckyguard.wordpress.com, this deployment isn't the first time Kentucky's National Guard troops have traveled to Africa. Troops went to Somalia and Rwanda in the 1990s as part of international humanitarian famine relief efforts. Rogers said the majority of the 70 members of the Campbellsville National Guard unit are from the surrounding area. The last time the unit was deployed, he said, was in November 2004 for Operation Iraqi Freedom. He said he knows the 26 local soldiers are in Africa now, but hasn't heard from them. Technology availability, he said, could limit their communication to only when out of necessity. Rogers said he doesn't know much about the mission, only that he believes it to be centered on training. Military officials have said journalists with the troops will attempt to speak with Campbellsville soldiers while they are serving in Africa and compile stories and photographs for publication in the News-Journal.

Election: Voter registration deadline

6 and women who are pregnant and in their last trimester.

The deadline to apply to vote by absentee is Oct. 30. Carney said applications must be completed and at his office by 4:30 p.m. that day.

Absentee voting will begin this Wednesday and continue through Nov. 6.

Those who aren't able to leave their homes can apply to vote via paper ballot mailed to their homes, Carney said.

There will be two changes in voting precincts on Nov. 6, Carney said.

Those who live in the Fourth District and vote in the Ireland/Irene-Romine precinct will now vote at Green River Memorial Baptist Church. Those voters previously voted at Bethel's Landing/Pit Stop Grocery.

Residents living in the First District and voting in the Oak Hill/Poplar Grove precinct will vote at the former Dakota Farm's store on KY 210 instead of Beams Body Shop. All other precinct locations will stay the same.

Carney said the voters whose precincts are changing will be mailed a letter after tomorrow's voter registration deadline passes.

This year's General Election ballot will feature several local, state and national races. Winners will take office in January. Ballot positions have been set and are printed as a sidebar to this story. In the Taylor County School Board race, three seats are up for grabs, including the 3rd District seat held by Jim Cheatham, the 4th District seat held by Tony Davis and the 5th District slot Lillian Clark holds now. All three have filed for re-election.

Doyle Berry and Benjamin Bright have filed to challenge Davis and Joey Wasson and Ronnie Harden will challenge Clark. Cheatham is unopposed for his seat.

The Campbellsville School Board boasts five members, and two are up for re-election this year. Pat Hall and Barkley Taylor's seats are up for grabs and both have filed for re-election. They have no opposition.

On the soil conservation ticket, four members are up for re-election. Barry Smith, David Cowherd, Doug Martin and John McLean have all filed to keep their seats. Challenger Debbie Gabbert has filed for a slot.

In a national race, voters will choose who they want to be president of the United States. Incumbent Barack Obama, a Democrat, will face Republican Mitt Romney.

Voters will also choose a 1st District U.S. Representative. Ed Whitfield, a Republican, will face off against Charles Hatchett, a Democrat.

State Rep. John "Bam" Carney, R-Campbellsville, is also up for re-election but has no opposition.

Voters will also choose a Taylor Circuit Clerk this year. Incumbent Rodney Burress will face Susie Skaggs. The two also faced off during the last General Election.

There will be at least one new face on the Campbellsville City Council next January. Fifteen candidates will face off for 12 seats. Candidates had to file by last January to see if a primary race was necessary in May. It wasn't.

Council candidates are incumbents Vangie Ford, Terry Keltner, Vicki Mullins, Patti Phillips, Dr. James Ewing, Randy Heron, David Nunery, Greg Rice, Mike Hall Jr., Stan McKinney and Sharon Hoskins-Sanders. Incumbent Richard Jeter did not file for re-election. His term will expire Jan. 1.

Residents Randy Brickner Jr., Henry Goff, Diane Ford-Benningfield and Paul Osborne have filed as challengers.

Commonwealth's Attorney Tim Cocanougher, whose term expires in January, did not file for re-election. Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Shelly Miller has filed for the seat. She has no opposition.

Even though several candidates don't have opposition, Carney said, write-in candidates can file for any of the open offices up to 10 days before the election. For more information about the election, call Carney at 465-6677 or visit www.tcclerk.com.

CU Homecoming offers variety for everyone

Weekend features football, music, food, play, cars and more

JOAN C. MCKINNEY
Campbellsville University

Campbellsville University's Homecoming on Oct. 12-13 offers a variety of activities for everyone-ranging from football, music, food, festival, comedy play, cars and motorcycles.

There are special commemorative years during this year's "Hear the Roar" Homecoming festivities.

The Fighting Tiger Football Team, which was reinstated in 1987 after a 50-year absence, is celebrating its 25th year at Homecoming. Coach Perry Thomas' team takes on Lindsey Wilson College at 2 p.m. Oct. 13 at Citizens Bank Field at Finley Stadium.

This is the 20th anniversary of the Tiger Marching Band, which is performing a special show "Soli Deo Gloria: Glory to God Alone," and the Homecoming Car Show is celebrating its 20th anniversary.

Reunions for the Class of 1962, the Campbellsville University Chorale, the Carver School of School Work and Counseling, veterans and others will be hosted.

"We are so happy to welcome these groups back to campus," Paula Smith, director of alumni relations, said. "We know this will be a special Homecoming, and we invite everyone to attend."

An entire schedule of events is listed on the back page of this special section. A schedule is also online at www.campbellsville.edu/Homecoming.

The Class of 1962, which is celebrating its 50th anniversary, will be honored at a special convocation at 10 a.m. Friday, Oct. 12, in the Banquet Hall of the Badgett Academic Support Center.

Following the convocation, there will be a Golden Heritage Luncheon at the Betty Dobbins Heilman House, which is the President's Home.

"We especially want to honor these special graduates," Smith said. "We hope you will come and support them as well."

The CU Chorale will perform a free concert at 6 p.m. in Ransdell Chapel. Following the concert, the CU Distinguished Alumni will be announced. The Homecoming reception immediately follows in the Banquet Hall. Tickets are $15 for the

Fighting Tigers to host rival Lindsey Wilson on national TV

Game will air live on FOX College Sports, locally on WLCU-TV, Comcast Channel 10

CHRIS MEGGINSON
Campbellsville University

Homecoming football games always tend to draw a crowd, but toss in the program's 25th anniversary and its closest rival and Saturday, Oct. 13, has all the ingredients it needs to be a great day for college football.

CU will return home to Finley Stadium and Citizens Bank Field to host Lindsey Wilson College in the Highway 55 Battle. Kickoff is at 2 p.m.

Located only 17 miles apart, the Fighting Tigers will look to keep the Highway 55 road sign hanging on their locker room wall, while the visiting Blue Raiders will be looking to claim victory in the series for the first time since the football rivalry began in 2010. The 2012 meeting will provide a twist though, as the game will be showcased on national television by FOX College Sports with a reach of 15 million homes.

"We are excited to have FOX showing our upcoming Homecoming game. This is great advertisement for our conference, university and Fighting Tiger football," said Perry Thomas, CU head coach. "It's not often that NAIA teams get an opportunity to showcase their programs, school and community on this scale."

Campbellsville's season has been full of new faces, with freshman players starting on the offensive and defensive lines, at wide receiver, defensive back, linebacker and kicker so far this season.

Under center, four Tigers have seen time as quarterback with fifth-year senior Robert Hill and junior college transfer Bryan Parnes splitting time at the position through the first four weeks. Redshirt freshman Cameron Looper has also played in the past few weeks while another fifth-year senior, Will Warf, has been mixed into the rotation on short-yardage situations and also as tight end.

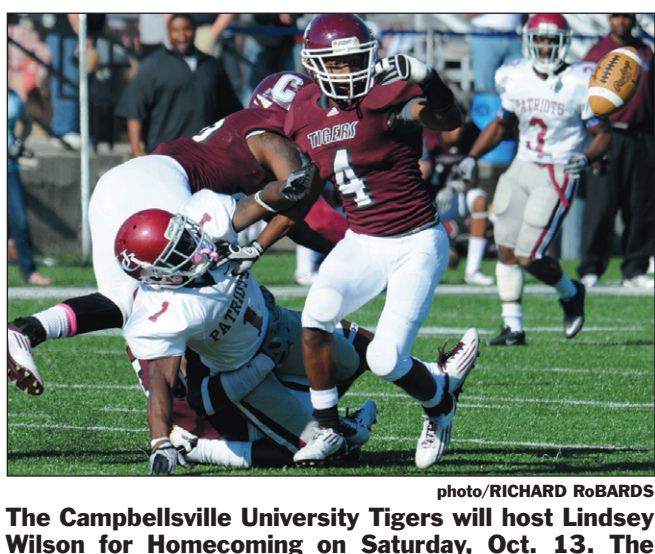

Despite a slow 0-4 start to the season, the Fighting Tigers are still in the hunt for a Mid-South Conference West Division championship with next Saturday's game being only game three of a six-game MSC West schedule.

The Tigers dropped their first two conference games to Bethel University 33-24 and on the road at Belhaven University 70-28. Last week, CU traveled to Kentucky Christian University for a cross-divisional MSC game and the maroon and gray Tigers hosted Top 10 ranked Georgetown College this past Saturday.

Lindsey Wilson is also looking for its first MSC West Division game, after losing its conference opener on the road at Faulkner University on Sept. 22.

The Blue Raiders are looking to bounce back from an early 2-3 start in their third season of play. After a season-opening overtime loss at Kentucky Christian, the Blue Raiders rolled off two wins at home over Union College and the University of Pikeville to earn an NAIA Top 25 ranking by the fourth week of the season. Georgetown College put a quick end to the Blue Raiders' Top 25 ranking the following week. Lindsey Wilson traveled to the University of the Cumberlands in non-conference action

Sept. 29 and took this past Saturday off before coming to Campbellsville.

In addition to the game being broadcast on FOX College Sports, Saturday's game will also be rebroadcast on WLCU-TV in Campbellsville on Comcast Cable Channel 10 at 7 p.m. All Campbellsville University football games are broadcast on WLCU 88.7 FM and streamed live on wlcufm.com. For online live video or audio links, in-game statistics or updates on Campbellsville University football, visit CampbellsvilleTigers.com or follow @CvilleTigers on Twitter.

CU to host Homecoming festival and Class of 1962 reunion

'There will be everything from a parade in the morning to tailgating all day before the game.'

APRIL HILL
Campbellsville University

It's that time of year again!

Campbellsville University will host its annual Homecoming celebration Friday, Oct. 12, and Saturday, Oct. 13.

A variety of events will take place during this celebration, including the first-ever Chorale reunion, the reunion of the Carver School of Social Work and Counseling, an induction ceremony honoring the Class of 1962 and others joining in the celebration.

Paula Smith, director of alumni relations, said this year is going to be very special for the Class of 1962 as they celebrate 50 years.

"We are really pleased with the number of alumni coming back this year," Smith said. "We have many alumni traveling from near and far from the class of 1962, including Mr. and Miss Campbellsville and the class president and vice president."

The class will be inducted into the Golden Heritage Club, a club that honors all alumni who graduated 50 years ago or earlier. A special ceremony will take place on Friday, Oct. 12, at 10 a.m. in the Banquet Hall of the Badgett Academic Support Center. Smith said there will not be a special speaker this year, but all classmates will have the opportunity to say a few words during the ceremony. All alumni are encouraged to come and be a part of this special ceremony.

Following the ceremony will be a number of events that all alumni and friends are encouraged to attend.

"There will be everything from a parade in the morning to tailgating all day before the game," Smith said.

Inflatables, live music, food, face painting and the annual car show are among some of the other activities taking place during the Homecoming festival, which will be from noon to 2 p.m. on Stapp Lawn.

Other classes are also celebrating and reuniting around campus during Homecoming.

Campbellsville University to perform 'Hairspray'

Comedy play runs Oct. 11-14, tickets are $5 each

TANNER ROYALTY
Campbellsville University

"Hairspray" the musical is to be presented by CU's theater department for Homecoming at Campbellsville University in the Russ Mobley Theater in the Alumni Building.

Admission is $5 and the play will be performed Thursday, Oct. 11, at 7 p.m., Friday, Oct. 12, at 8 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 13, at 7 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 14, at 3 p.m.

The play is set in Baltimore in 1962 when teenagers Tracy Turnblad and her friend Penny Pingleton are watching the Corny Collins show, much to Tracy's mother Edna's dismay.

After one of the stars of the show leaves, the chance to audition to dance on the show arrives, and Tracy quickly takes the opportunity. With the help of her friend Seaweed, Tracy makes it on the show, angering the evil dance queen Amber Von Tussel and her mother Velma. Tracy then decides that it's not fair that the African-American children can only dance on the Corny Collins Show once a month, and with the help of her friends and family she is going to integrate the show.

Leads in the play include Campbellsville residents Joshua Percell of Campbellsville as Seaweed, and Lacy Mudd of Campbellsville as Velma Von-Tussel.

The Department of Theater is also presenting the play at the Hodgenville Civic Center in Hodgenville at 7 p.m. Oct. 26 and 27 and at 3 p.m. Oct. 28. For more information call theater director Starr Garrett at 789-5266.

'Hear the Roar' is this year's Homecoming theme

Tigers play Lindsey Wilson Saturday at 2 p.m.

LUCAS PENNINGTON
Campbellsville University

The theme for Campbellsville University's 2012 Homecoming celebration is "Hear the Roar."

Paula Smith, director of alumni relations, said, "We chose this theme because of all we will be celebrating this year at Homecoming. This year is the 25th year of football, the 20th anniversary of the car show, the 20th year of CU Marching Band and the first-ever Chorale reunion and much more. With all of this being said, we knew there would be a lot of entertaining."

Smith said, "As you look at the Homecoming brochure, which has been mailed to alumni, you see the CU Tiger roaring with his mouth wide open with the look of shattered glass. This is a resemblance of what is about to happen on Oct. 12 and 13 as we listen to the amazing sounds as the events begin."

The Tiger football team plays Lindsey Wilson College at 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 13, on Citizens Bank Field in Finley Stadium.

Carver School of Social Work to host accreditation celebration

MARY KUTTER
Campbellsville University

Campbellsville University's Carver School of Social Work and Counseling will host a celebration of its recently received accreditation on Saturday, Oct. 13, at 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. in Winters Dining Hall.

"This is an opportunity to celebrate with faculty, students and staff the historic accomplishments earned and awarded to the Carver School," Dr. Darlene Eastridge, dean of the school, said.

Eastridge said the celebration on the morning of Homecoming will include a slide show, historical review, story telling, refreshments and gifts.

Anyone who graduated from the Carver School while at The Southern Baptist Theological Southern Seminary or at Campbellsville College/University is invited to attend.

"Be a part of history!" Eastridge said, referring to how this celebration is a landmark for the Carver School and is an event one should most certainly attend.

Chorale, marching band to have special events

Chorale reunion concert is Friday, Oct. 12, at Ransdell Chapel at 6 p.m.

ELLIE MCKINLEY
Campbellsville University

From astounding vocal talent to brilliant musicians, there is attention focused on many music groups for this year's Campbellsville University Homecoming weekend.

Two music groups will have reunions, including the University Chorale and Tiger Marching Band, which is celebrating its 20th anniversary.

For the first time in Campbellsville University's history, members of former chorales will officially reunite. The Chorale has been known as the Campbellsville University Chorale, Campbellsville Collegiate Chorale and the Campbellaires, and all former members are invited to the reunion.

The Chorale Reunion Concert is Friday, Oct. 12, at the Ransdell Chapel at 6 p.m. Everyone is invited. A cost of $15 includes a ticket to the Homecoming reception, immediately following the chorale concert, and a ticket to the 8 p.m. showing of the University Theater Department's "Hairspray."

The reception will honor the CU Distinguished Alumni who will be announced at the chorale concert in Ransdell Chapel. For more information on the chorale reunion, contact Dr. Tony Cunha at aocunha@campbellsville.edu. To stay in touch with the music department, update contact and other information at www.campbellsville.edu/alumni-update.

To celebrate the 20th anniversary of the Campbellsville University Marching Band, Jennifer Tinnell's Tiger Marching Band will host a special show. The title of this year's show is called "Soli Deo Gloria: Glory to God Alone," based on Romans 11:36. Tinnell, director of the band, said, "God has blessed us with a wonderful ensemble like the Tiger Marching Band and he will sustain us for the next 20 years and more as he sees fit. The Latin phrase 'Soli Deo Gloria' translates to 'Glory to God Alone' and the plan is to dedicate our efforts and music this year to glorify God."

Tinnell said, "Regardless of when you arrived at CU, it is certain that your support of the Tiger Marching Band has been essential to the success of the program. We want to say 'thank you' for all you have done and continue to do so that our students are a part of one of the best college marching bands in the state."

Tinnell and the marching band would like to invite all marching band alumni to Homecoming to watch the anniversary show and visit after the parade and during the ballgame. The ballgame will take place at 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 13.

For more information, contact Tinnell at jltinnell@campbellsville.edu.

CU to host 20th anniversary Homecoming car show

Last year's show was largest ever at CU, event is free and open to the public

TANNER ROYALTY
Campbellsville University

"Last year was the largest car show we've had. Why wouldn't it be? It's a perfect place for a car show, and the October temperatures are mild," Stan McKinney, associate professor of journalism and car show organizer, said of the upcoming 20th anniversary Homecoming car show at Campbellsville University on Saturday, Oct. 13.

The annual Homecoming car show began 20 years ago as an attempt to showcase cars that alumni would recognize and remember from their time spent at CU.

At that time there were about 12 entries. Since then, it has grown to a large event with 147 entries last year with 134 cars and trucks and 13 motorcycles. Prizes are given annually to the top 75 cars and trucks and top five motorcycles.

The Homecoming car show is free and open to the public.

"The show is a good time for people to come home to Campbellsville University and remember how things used to be when they were here," McKinney said.

Not only is the show for CU students and alumni, but for the community as well. McKinney said the car show draws a crowd that might not come to the university otherwise, and opens the eyes of possible future students who may not have considered Campbellsville before.

"The awards at this show are unique compared to other shows I've been to," McKinney said. All winners will receive a custom 1/24 scale 1949 Mercury, No. 7 in a series.

"I know of no other show that offers a prize like that," McKinney said.

Registration for the car show begins at 9 a.m. and ends at noon. Registration is free. The show will be held in front of the Montgomery Library and trophies will be presented at 2 p.m.

CU to offer PSA screenings during Homecoming

Screenings to be at Taylor Regional Hospital

TANNER ROYALTY
Campbellsville University

Taylor Regional Hospital will offer PSA screenings to test for prostate cancer during Homecoming at Campbellsville University. The PSA screenings will be Saturday, Oct. 13, and Sunday, Oct. 14, at Taylor Regional Hospital.

Stan McKinney, associate professor of journalism and Homecoming car show coordinator, said several car shows around the country have had PSA screenings performed during their events and lives have been saved by the screenings.

A 2012 Health Fair consent form will be available during the car show festivities at Campbellsville University. Anyone wishing to participate should take the consent form to the emergency room registration at TRH.

Those interested can obtain a copy of this form from McKinney during the car show. The form must be presented at the hospital to qualify for the screening. The screening costs $8, which McKinney says is a small price to pay which may save a life.

Art exhibit to feature CU alumnus Seth Hart

Work will be on display starting Saturday

APRIL HILL
Campbellsville University

Campbellsville University 2009 alumnus artist Seth Hart will have his artwork on display at CU's Art Gallery on Saturday, Oct. 13, at 10 a.m.

Hart's exhibit will feature various drawings, hand-built clay sculptures and pottery pieces.

Hart gathers many of his ideas for his work from objects like tree bark, various animal furs and irregular shapes found throughout nature.

"In nature, no two things are alike; therefore, everything has a different shape," Hart said. "This allows me to have more freedom and creativity as I work."

Hart also likes to incorporate facial expressions into many of his pottery pieces in which he portrays everyday moods and unique facial characteristics. "I'm very spontaneous and have few plans as to how my art will look when it's finished," he said. "I encounter many surprises along the way, and as my hands work I let them evolve it into something I'm happy with."

Before starting a piece, Hart said he researches and looks at various angles of his subject through photographs. He then prints off each angle and uses it as a foundation for what he creates.

Hart said he is most proud of the pieces that challenge him the most.

Hart showcased his work at the CU Art Gallery once before during his last semester of college in 2009. Since then he has displayed his work at the Sheltolee Arts and Crafts Camp, the Heritage Festival in Wayne County and other various farmers' markets.

He works for the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service, where he assists in agriculture, 4-H and family/consumer science programs. He also teaches art classes to adults and children in his community and promotes art programs within local school systems.

Hart graduated in 2009 with a bachelor's degree in art from CU. He lives in Monticello.
